Woman knew her abductor

Former police officer is now a suspect, sources say

A Belleville woman who told police she was abducted, beaten and raped by an unknown man has admitted she knew her attacker, and a former Belleville police officer is a suspect, sources said.

"It was certainly a forcible rape," Madison County State's Attorney William Haine said. "I would rule out a random act of rape and abduction."

Belleville police have turned over the investigation to Illinois State Police detectives, who are expected to present findings to Haine within about a week.

The victim initially told police she was abducted in Belleville by a stranger and forced to drive to a location in Madison County near Pontoon Beach, where she was attacked. The day-light crime shocked and frightened area residents.

Haine said he could not discuss details of the investigation but that the victim was cooperating with authorities. The relationship between her and her attacker is unclear, he said.

"She's obviously been terribly traumatized, and we're doing the best we can," Haine said. "My first consideration is for the victim and, second, for the sufficiency of evidence to proceed."

Haine said he did not anticipate charges against the woman. Sources said she had identified a former Belleville police officer as her attacker. Haine would not comment on that but said no current Belleville officer was a suspect. Belleville Police Chief Dave Brauer declined to comment.

State Police District Commander Maj. Lonnie Inlow also would not discuss details of the case.

"Hopefully within the next week or so we'll be able to present evidence to the Madison County state's attorney for his determination," Inlow said.

The victim, who is married, initially told police she stopped at a Schnucks in Belleville on her way to work about 7:45 a.m. Oct. 18. She said the man apparently hid in her car while she was in the store and confronted her with a knife as she drove along Illinois 15.

The woman said the man forced her to drive to a wooded area on Keller Lane near Collinsville. There, she said, she tried to flee, but the man beat and sexually assaulted her and cut her face with the knife before he fled on foot.

Truck drivers summoned help after they saw the woman collapse as she ran toward Illinois 157. She was treated at a hospital and released.

Helicopters and police dogs were used in a futile search for the woman's assailant. A State Police evidence team combed the area for the knife used in the attack but was unsuccessful.

Early in the investigation, police circulated a composite drawing based on the woman's description of her attacker.

Belleville police said they had been investigating the woman's complaints about a man stalking her for about six weeks before the abduction. They said she had reported receiving harassing letters and telephone calls.

Fairmount OTB employee arrested

A Fairmount Park Racetrack worker at the Alton Landing off-track betting parlor allegedly owes her employer at least $12,000 after authorities folded what appears to be an 11-month illegal gambling bing.

Alton police arrested the 22-year-old OTB teller about 12:10 a.m. Sunday at the landing under suspicion of theft and deceptive practices, police said. She was released several hours later pending formal criminal charges.

According to a police report, the woman's supervisor discovered "a large amount of betting activity at (the suspect's) station which did not equate with customer activities."

The woman, an East St. Louis resident whose name is being withheld pending charges, allegedly confessed to placing her own bets while on duty and using her winnings to cover the bets, police said.

The teller allegedly told police she "was always able to win enough to cover any losses so that her drawer would balance," according to reports.

However, the teller was confronted Saturday night after her supervisor discovered a $12,717 discrepancy between bets wagered and the cash on hand at her station, police said.

The teller allegedly admitted she had won an unknown amount of money placing unauthorized bets since January, but said she had begun wagering larger amounts to cover losses, police said. The teller said she could not reimburse the company the $12,000 that she wagered Saturday, police said.

Fairmount Park General Manager Brian Zander said the case, which is under investigation by Alton and state authorities, could be turned over to federal authorities.

Granite City exploring its insurance options

By Bob Slato
Staff writer

A year ago, the Illinois Municipal League Risk Management Association captured the attention of Granite City officials by raising the city's annual insurance premium by nearly 30 percent to almost $960,000.

Today, the city has grabbed the attention of IML-RMA by seeking insurance bids from commercial carriers.

"There are commercial suppliers out there who are more than willing to insure the city," Alderman Kim Affolter told Risk Management Association representatives Monday night.

Affolter is chairman of the City Council's Insurance and Safety Committee.

IML-RMA is an insurance pool consisting exclusively of cities in Illinois. Granite City pays more to the insurance pool each year than all other participants save one.

IML-RMA has asked the city for a premium contribution of $967,001 for 1996. That premium, an increase of less than 1 percent over the 1995 contribution, would cover the city's buildings, liability, automobile and workers' compensation from January through December next year.

Ted Smalley of Management Services Inc., the marketing arm for the municipal league's insurance pool, said that premiums are determined by the amount of claims filed by a particular city. The pool can offer low rates for cities by spreading out the risk among its members, he said.

The nearly 30 percent increase in Granite City's premium for 1995 resulted from city claims exceeding its premium payment by $90,500 in 1994, Smalley said. According to a report provided by IML-RMA, the city submitted claims totaling $88,000 while paying a premium of $767,500 in 1994.

But through new safety incentive programs initiated by Safety Director Lynnette Kozar and a close watch on claims, the city has reduced its claims experience in 1995 (through Nov. 7) by nearly $640,000, to $220,000 from $858,000, according to a report provided by IML-RMA.

Still, IML-RMA has quoted the city a premium of $967,001 for 1996.

"That would commit nearly one in every $13 of the city budget to insurance," Affolter said. "We've done everything you asked last year and the premium has still increased while our experience decreased dramatically."

"Something has to give and it has to give soon. Otherwise, we'll have to look elsewhere," she said.

Younger children can call for help in an emergency using 911 because the dispatcher receives the caller's address and telephone number with the call. ## Pontoon to reconsider mobile home park license

By Scott Cousins
Staff writer

The Pontoon Beach Village Board voted Tuesday to reconsider the granting of a business license to Village Green Mobile Home Park because a recently indicted employee is still working for the company.

The matter was discussed after Jack Humes, an attorney representing the park, asked to speak at the meeting and asked that the license be issued.

"I feel the license was approved, the fee was paid, and the license should be issued," he said.

At its last meeting, the board approved a business license for the park, which had been operating either without a license or with a temporary license since May. Two days later, Elizabeth Couch of Edwardsville, the off-site manager of the park, was indicted by a Madison County grand jury on nine counts relating to the improper transfer of mobile home titles. Also indicted was Elaine Holmes of Granite City, who sold and sublet mobile homes at the park.

According to the Madison County Circuit Clerk's office, Couch has since pleaded guilty to several of the charges and is awaiting sentencing. A preliminary hearing for Holmes has been set for Dec. 8.

Deputy Village Clerk Judy Merritt said her office received a check from the park, but has not turned it over to the treasurer yet. She said Jensen had advised her not to issue the business license after the indictments became public.

At Tuesday's meeting the board voted to reconsider, and then tabled the matter until the next meeting so they could discuss the matter with Village Attorney Keith Jensen. Jensen did not attend Tuesday's meeting.

Village officials expressed concern that Couch was still working for the company.

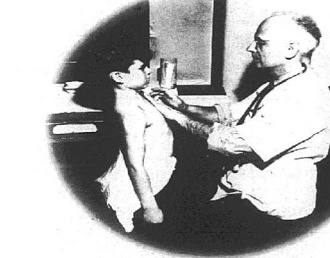

"We have had some problems with her," Mayor Glen Wilson said.

"It disappoints me that she is still associated with the operation (of the mobile home park)," Trustee Mike Macek said. "Personally, I'm not comfortable with her being there."

Several trustees said she should have at least been suspended until the matter was settled. Humes said the timing of the indictments was "unfortunate," while Macek said it was "a slap in the face."

Since the last meeting, Merritt said one occupancy permit has been issued, and another had been applied for. She said Wednesday that no new permits would be issued, and no action taken against the park, until the matter is discussed with Jensen.

Some people think choosing a doctor based on trust is a thing of the past.

Fortunately, history repeats itself.

If you belong to a health plan, we believe Heartland will change the way you choose a doctor.

Heartland Healthcare is a group of community physicians with one foot in the future of health care and the other firmly grounded in the values of the past. Values based solely on the quality of your care. The very foundation of medicine.

Gambling laws inconsistent?

"The law is an ass." Was it Charles Dickens' Mr. Bumble who said that? Tempting to agree, isn't it?

But the law, in itself, isn't a sentient thing, and I'm more inclined to label as asses those who devise the statutes, the very people we elect to do so.

Of course, many of these denizens of our halls of government are lawyers themselves, but the rest are a pretty mixed bag — butchers, bakers, candlestick makers, the occasional doctor and Indian chief.

Those who ARE lawyers aren't necessarily (or often) eminent jurists and among the whole passel you'll rarely find a statesman.

We're talking politicians here. Which is to say, folks as prone to sin and error as you and I.

It isn't the fault of the lawmakers that confusion sometimes arises about those laws and that accusations are made that the statutes are inconsistent. Case in point: Illinois gambling laws, about which there's been a lot of conversation recently in our own fair city, enough to produce severe nausea, but more about that later.

Remember, we're not talking sin here, though some consider it sinful. Fortunately, our legislature is keeping its nose out of defining sin. Our state doesn't consider gambling evil.

It's perfectly legal here to wager on horse races either at the track or in the off-track betting parlors, in which we're no longer limited to betting on Illinois tracks only.

If you prefer blackjack, roulette, or one of the countless state has put out welcome signs on its riverboats. Illinois not only opens its arms to those who don't mind the astronomical odds of the state lottery, it spends money on cutesy TV advertising, touting it.

Just don't get caught playing the video poker machines, which are licensed "for amusement only." Inconsistent, you say? Not really.

Our legislators are bottom-liners. When (and if) the day comes that the state can get its cut out of these tools of the devil, they'll be legal, too.

None of us who get out and around a bit have been unaware of the number of restaurants, bars and nonprofit organizations in which the machines could be found in Madison County.

Few of us are so naive, so ingenious, as to believe that grown men and women put real money into them for the pure joy of watching the wheels spin and admiring the plums, lemons and cherries.

But any number of our minions of the law have apparently been just that credulous. Either that or they need to visit their doctors for a new prescription.

Not too many months ago, a well-known area elected official and long-time friend of mine walked past three guys feeding money into video machines in one area watering hole just to give me a big hug — and he didn't even notice the third.

A little like those three monkeys with their tiny paws strategically placed over eyes, ears and nose, I guess. Or, as the Church Lady might say, "Could it be hypocrisy?"

Normally, yes, of this wouldn't be a hot topic for discussion, but since the Oct. 18 fatal shooting of one local man by another on Commerce Street, better known in the media as Vanzo's parking lot (a lot actually shared with Mark Twain Bank), it's been just that, thanks in large part to the tabloid-like coverage offered by the local media.

The kind of coverage, I might add, that could make its way into the pages of the Enquirer or the Globe at the grocery check-out.

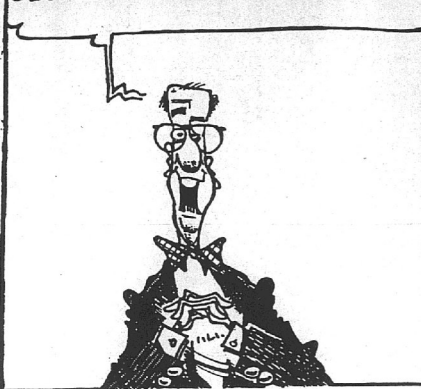

Even the normally respectable Post-Dispatch on the day following grand jury indictments in the case headlined its story, "Vanzo's Owner Faces Charge of Gambling."

The 13-paragraph story devoted the first five paragraphs to detailing the indictment of Vicky Vanzo Stassi on a Class A misdemeanor charge. It wasn't until the sixth paragraph that the story mentioned the fact the Joseph E. Pelan was indicted for gambling.

In the month that has followed the shooting, the misdemeanor charge has taken precedence over the felony charge very consistently and it seems to me that the priorities, especially of the local press, have been badly skewed.

Get real! Press coverage has created a sacrificial lamb situation where none was needed or justified. I can only hope it wasn't done with malice.

WE WANT TO INSTILL IN ILLINOIS SCHOOLCHILDREN A BELIEF THAT VIOLENCE IS WRONG, A BELIEF THAT CIVILITY AND REASON ARE THE BEST WAYS TO SOLVE YOUR PROBLEMS.

...EVEN IF WE HAVE TO BEAT IT INTO THEM!!!

Mayor gets thanks for veto

long as he needs it.

MICHAEL RAY DILLIER

Granite City

All pets need annual exam

TO THE EDITOR:

Thanks to Mayor Ron Selph, last burning will remain illegal in Granite City. I'm glad to see that the mayor, after thinking long and hard, after the city council passed an ordinance to allow burning, plans to veto this new law.

Mayor Selph believes the health and welfare of the citizens far outweigh any potential financial savings for the city's leaf collection. I believe he has done the right thing by not allowing the council to leap backward on this issue.

The city has enough problems with all the industry as far as air pollutants go. All of the industries, especially Granite City Steel, have spent millions on reducing air pollutants. The city owes it to the citizens to do the same thing.

Mayor Selph has proven he has foresight and is not afraid to make decisions, even though they may not be popular. He will have my support for as

TO THE EDITOR:

As anyone who has experienced the misfortune of losing a dog to parvovirus or a cat to feline leukemia-related illness can attest to, it is a sad, heart-rending experience. Or consider the expense and hazards of treating a dog for heartworm disease. For the most part, vaccination and timely preventive veterinary care can prevent such situations.

What can be most distressing for the pet-owner and the veterinarian is when human error becomes a factor.

As recent cases point out, a new pet owner can be given incorrect, misleading or incorrect information by the previous pet-owner, breeder or shelter worker. That, or the pet owner simply misunderstands.

It's even more tragic when it leads to the loss of a pet. To combat this type of situation here's a very important piece of advice for pet owners. When obtaining a new pet, bring the pet to your veterinarian right away and certainly not longer than within two or three days. Be sure also to bring with you all information about previous vaccinations, deworming, medications and any other treatments.

Your veterinarian is in the best position to evaluate all the previous information and give you proper advice on timely future vaccinations and preventive pet health care.

For the same reasons be sure to have all pets examined annually. One year in a pet's life is like 4 to 15 years in human terms and much can change in that time period.

Furthermore, a veterinarian is trained to observe and investigate things that may be overlooked even by the most conscientious pet owner. Even when I conduct a "healthy-pet" examination on a pet brought in for vaccination, I seldom fail to find at least a minor problem which I bring to the pet owner's attention.

Early detection and treatment can prevent a major problem and expense later, and even save a pet's life. I know. I've been there, both when the above advice is followed and when it is not. As has just about every other veterinarian.

So please, all you pet owners, heed the advice given here. Your pet's welfare depends upon it.

Thank you for the opportunity to present this in the interest of the pet-owning public and animal welfare.

JAMES R. HILL, DVM
President, Southern Illinois Veterinary Medical Association

Letters policy

The Granite City Press-Record/Journal welcomes letters to the editor. The newspaper provides the "Letters" column to give readers an opportunity to voice opinions on various items of interest.

Letters should be brief, preferably less than 10 paragraphs.

Typed letters, or letters that are neatly written are given priority treatment.

Preference is also given to locally originated letters, but letters from outside the area are accepted.

Hitchhiking: It's not the way it used to be

(The following column was written by Stephen Buser.)

Hitchhiking was a reasonably safe way to travel not long ago. Drifters, college students, seamen and other oddball travelers frequented the nation's highways with their thumbs out in search of a ride.

A stranger along a highway next to a duffel bag was a welcome companion for lonely truck drivers and traveling salesmen. Driver and hitchhiker alike enjoyed sharing a glimpse of life on the road with someone whom they had never met and would not likely see again.

These were the days before carjacking, when drivers had no fear of being mugged for giving someone on foot a ride.

I began my hitchhiking career in second grade during the early 1960s. I tagged along with my older brothers hitchhiking back and forth across town in East St. Louis.

We hitched up to the Majestic Theater on Collinsville Avenue, over to Jones Park and all around our neighborhood in St. Patrick's parish without giving thought of being a crime victim.

Chances were that the driver knew you, your parents, your neighbor or one of your relatives. If the driver didn't know you, a new friendship was made by the end of the ride.

My parents preferred that we walk, take a bus or call for a ride, but we were never punished for using our thumbs to travel around town. The police gave a mild scolding now and then but never made arrests for hitchhiking within the city limits.

When I moved to Belleville a few years later, hitchhiking was the most popular way to travel home from high school.

My classmates and I at Althoff Catholic High School could always count on a ride with "Joe" or Monsignor Louis F. Ell. Both men were pushing 80 years old and close to being legally blind. But this never stopped either one from cruising the streets of Belleville in late afternoon on weekdays to give a lift to kids at Belleville West or Althoff.

When Joe spotted a hitchhiker he veered his car toward the curb and came to an abrupt stop. Joe waited patiently while a half dozen or more kids crammed into the front and back seats of his well-kept DeSoto. Those who could not fit in Joe's car waited for Monsignor, who was never far behind.

DeSoto Joe was one of the original cruisers in Belleville. I am sorry that I never learned his name. He drove a white and pink 1954 DeSoto sedan with a semiautomatic "fluid drive" transmission. The car seemed ancient but had only a few thousand miles on it.

The musty, faded cover. The inside of the car had a combined odor of moth balls and motor oil.

We did not call cars about the smell. Having a good time in Joe's car and getting home without an accident were our priorities at that stage of life.

Joe had long, thick white hair and wore a straw hat with a bright, colorful feather tucked in one side. He donned the ivory-colored steering wheel tightly with his small, weathered hands. He was a short man and had to squint over the dashboard to see what was ahead.

Joe veered in and out of traffic, trusting his instincts rather than relying on his side-view mirrors. He managed a smile no matter how bad the water, the traffic or the noise in the car. If Joe had problems in life we never knew them.

When Joe's car was full of kids he tipped his straw hat to other hitchhikers along the road, shrugging that he had no more room. He muttered to himself now and then, but never had a harsh word. Every few minutes Joe glanced in the rear-view mirror looking for hand signals when someone wanted out.

Joe nodded when he received the message, and coasted awhile before coming to a stop, usually a few blocks beyond the intended dropoff.

None of us minded the extra walk. We seemed to have all the time in the world and no one wanted to arrive home too early from school.

Riding with Monsignor was more perilous than cruising with Joe at 20 miles per hour. Monsignor was oblivious to speed limit signs and never used his blinkers.

Like Joe, Monsignor had no use for his rear- or side-view mirrors. He swerved slowly in and out of lanes, correctly assuming that drivers in the way would make room for him.

When Monsignor slowed down to give a ride, everyone scattered because he often stopped on the sidewalk. This kindly priest's habit of zooming off before all the car doors were closed added to the excitement of the ride.

I planned when I grew older to return the favor by giving rides to young hitchhikers who took my place looking for a ride home from high school with DeSoto Joe and Monsignor.

Our children are taught, as they should be, in D.A.R.E. programs and in classrooms, not to accept a ride with strangers no matter how friendly they may appear to be.

Most states do not bother to post "hitchhiking prohibited" signs because adult hitchhikers have vanished except for the occasional drifter who seems from another era.

The fear of drivers and hitchhikers alike of becoming a crime victim has caused hitchhiking to become history.

Riding home from high school with DeSoto Joe and Monsignor Ell has provided fond memories about the way it used to be, not only in Belleville but also in society.

It was a time when persons left their keys in the car, their door at home unlocked and were unafraid to pick up a hitchhiker in search of a ride.

There were no gangs, metal detectors in schools and posters of missing children on milk cartons.

Chewing gum in class or smoking cigarettes in the bathroom were grounds for detention after school. Expelling a student for bringing a loaded gun to class was unheard of.

Life was not perfect or free of crime, but it would be good to figure out a way to return to the days when hitchhiking was safe for both the hitchhiker and driver.

In the meantime, kids who are adults now can reflect about the good times they had with Monsignor and DeSoto Joe — when hitchhiking was an adventure to look forward to each day after school.

Orville Hummert logs the position of some tombstones in the old St. Elizabeth's Catholic Cemetery next to Mitchell Elementary School as part of a Genealogical Society project.

Genealogical Society project Cemeteries inventoried

History buffs have an opportunity to do a lot of digging with the Madison County Genealogical Society.

Those interested in researching their family tree can find a wealth of information from the 400-member not-for-profit organization. Conversely, members of the society welcome any assistance local residents may offer with research into births, deaths, marriage records and other vital statistics.

The group meets monthly at 7 p.m. on the second Thursday in the Fellowship Hall at Immanuel United Methodist Church, 800 North Main St., Edwardsville. The meetings feature guest speakers and the exchange of genealogical information.

"We're currently doing an inventory of the old St. Elizabeth's Catholic Cemetery in Mitchell," said member Orville Hummert of Granite City. "Some of the plot records have been lost and any help we can get would be appreciated."

So far, the group has done inventory of 120 of the 201 cemeteries in the county.

But the genealogical society is more than a group dedicated to finding lost death records. It is a group of people interested in preserving history, Hummert said.

The group maintains a genealogical room at the Edwardsville Public Library with more than 2,500 volumes of genealogical and historical material, including family histories, an indexed obituary file, printed census records and marriage records through 1882.

The society has published early court records of Madison County, indexes to biographical sketches, an 1892 History of Madison County, 1892 Rural Landowners of Madison County, Madison County Cemetery Records, ancestor chart books, surname index for society members, a Madison County Handbook and the 1880 federal census for the county with surname index.

The society also publishes a newsletter nine times a year. It is mailed to all members.

The society's goals are to encourage and educate persons in the study of family history and research methods; to preserve historical and genealogical records; to inform people of the importance of collecting, preserving and circulating genealogical literature; and to promote research, publish and circulate genealogical records and information.

That's quite a task when one considers that Madison County included all of Wisconsin and most of Illinois when it was organized in 1812. Membership is $15 per year. Life memberships are available for $150.

For more information about the society or its research or to contribute information, call Hummert at 451-6569 or Leroy Lashman at 876-0220.

Owca, Wolf take BAC board seats

Following the installation of new members at their Nov. 13 meeting, Belleville Area College trustees elected Richard Roehrkaske of Red Bud, Subdistrict 1 representative, as chairman. Nick J. Mance of Cahokia was chosen vice chairman. Mance was unopposed in his re-election bid as trustee for community college Subdistrict 3.

New board members elected on Nov. 7 and sworn in at the meeting were:

- ✓ Kenneth Joseph of Freeburg, a retired deputy sheriff with the St. Clair County Sheriff's Department. He represents Subdistrict 2.
- ✓ Norman Owca of Granite City, who previously served as Granite City Unit School District 9 business and finance director. He represents Subdistrict 7.
- ✓ Daniel Polites of O'Fallon, a golf professional and owner of DP Golf Center in O'Fallon. He represents Subdistrict 5.

The election winners will serve six-year terms.

Also joining the board for the first time was former state Rep. Sam Wolf, who spent 18 years in the House of Representatives before retiring in 1992. Wolf was appointed and sworn in by the outgoing board, which selected him to fill the vacancy created by the resignation of Robert Maxwell at its October meeting.

Maxwell, who served on the board as Subdistrict 6 representative since 1990, had to resign because he is moving outside the district. Wolf will serve the remainder of Maxwell's term, which expires in November 1997.

Norman Owca

The seventh voting member of the board is Kay Bennett of Belleville (Subdistrict 4), whose term of office, like Roehrkaske's, expires in November 1997. The student board member is Laura Schilling of New Athens.

Chairman Roehrkaske delayed committee assignments for board members until completion of orientation sessions for new members that are scheduled for late November and early December.

Slightly fewer births to teens in county

The percentage of babies born to teen-age mothers was up slightly last year in Illinois after minor declines for three consecutive years.

In Madison County, there were slightly fewer births to teen mothers last year.

Illinois Department of Public Health Director Dr. John Lumpkin said while the rate of births to teens has remained fairly stable, it is still too high. He issued another call for adolescent abstinence.

"All sectors of society must be committed to addressing this problem," Lumpkin said. "Teens need to hear from those who influence their lives — parents, preachers, teachers, health care providers, advertisers, entertainers and friends — that it is all right to postpone having sex.

"They must also understand the consequences of premature sexual activity, which include increased risk of AIDS and HIV infection and other sexually transmitted diseases. And an unwanted pregnancy can result in undereducation, underemployment and poverty."

The state funds a variety of health department and school-based clinic programs to discourage teen-age pregnancy.

Statewide, in 1994, teens gave birth to 24,666 babies, 273 more than in 1993 and 13 percent of the 189,182 total births last year. The percentage of births to teens in 1993 was 12.8 percent.

In Madison County, 478 of 3,411 births, or 14 percent, were to teen-age mothers in 1994. But that was down from 530 of 3,557, or 15 percent, in 1993.

Firm to conduct interviews

Representatives of A. G. Edwards Inc., Today's Temporary and Trans States Airlines Inc. will be conducting job interviews Tuesday at Belleville Area College's Granite City Campus, 4950 Maryville Rd. in Granite City.

From 9 a.m. to noon, A.G. Edwards Inc. and Today's Temporary will be holding interviews in the Wilmeyer Room (room L-400), while Trans State will be interviewing aviation maintenance technicians and avionics technicians from 8:30 a.m. to noon in room 207.

Current and former EAC students are eligible to participate in these interview sessions. Students should dress professionally and bring a current resume. Reservations are required. To make reservations or for more information, call the Granite City Campus at 931-0600, extension 634 or 638.

Criminal justice discussion

A panel of legal practitioners and a sociology professor will address several issues regarding the criminal justice system at a discussion open to the public that is scheduled for 11:30 a.m. today (Thursday) in the Mississippi Room of the University Center at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville.

Sponsored by SIUE Student Legal Services, the title of the event is "After O.J.: Reform in The Criminal Justice System."

The discussion panel will consist of Madison County Circuit Judge P. J. O'Neill, Madison County Public Defender John Rekowski, an assistant U.S. attorney to be announced later, and SIUE Sociology and Social Work Professor Hugh Barlow.

For more information, call the SIUE Kimmel Leadership Center, 692-2886, or SIUE Student Legal Services attorney Sandra Dods, 656-1287.

BAC seeks literacy tutors

Belleville Area College is looking for volunteer literacy tutors for the Project Read program in the Granite City area. A free training program for Project Read volunteer tutors will be held Saturday and Monday at the Granite City Campus, 4950 Maryville Rd. in Granite City.

Project Read is the adult literacy program administered by BAC's Adult Basic Education Department. The program helps adults improve their reading, writing and math skills. Volunteer tutors spend approximately two hours a week tutoring adult students. Tutoring sessions are held in public locations, such as churches and libraries. The training program for volunteers will enable them to tutor adults in reading and math.

To ensure that there are enough training materials for the workshop, prospective tutors should make reservations. To qualify to tutor students, volunteers must attend both the Saturday, Dec. 2, and Monday, Dec. 4, sessions.

For the time and room number of the Project Read tutor training, call Francine Lafferty at BAC's Adult Basic Education Department at 236-2700, extension 462.

insurance cost for the city — by far — is workers' compensation. Of the $555,000 in total claims in 1994, $695,000 was for workers' comp.

But the city has reduced the number of comp claims in 1995 to 21 from 62 claims the previous year. And the amount claimed due to workers' comp has dropped to $172,000 from $695,000 the previous year.

Smalley told committee members Monday that a commercial insurance carrier would charge the city at least $819,500 for workers' comp insurance alone.

But Affolter said she has received quotes from several commercial insurance carriers and none of them exceeded $800,000 for coverage that includes buildings, auto and liability insurance in addition to workers' comp.

One of the problems with IML-RMA is that Martin Boyer, the company that administers claims for IML-RMA, does not cooperate when the city seeks information about specific claims, Affolter and Kozar said.

"We're paying you a million dollars a year and you're not listening," Affolter said.

Kozar said she would like to address the legitimacy of some claims filed, but that Martin Boyer simply pays the claims rather than investigating.

Smalley promised to bring representatives from Martin Boyer to a meeting with the committee in December.

Meanwhile, Affolter said she will continue to seek bids from other insurance carriers until a decision is made.

The city's premium is due at the end of the year.

Suit

Brandon was 2½ years old when the attack occurred. Most of his left arm was chewed up by the dog, which a judge later ordered destroyed.

Brandon, who lives in Alton, still has nightmares, his mother said. He carries a stuffed toy dog to protect him from "bad" dogs. He is supposed to avoid direct sunlight because of massive scar tissue on his body.

In addition to plastic surgery and other medical costs, the Pratts have incurred significant legal bills, Carol said.

"It's not so much the money, but the principle. My baby is scarred for life. (Pourdas) never once called to see how Brandon was. He never called the hospital. He never even said he was sorry," she said.

This has been a tough year for Pourdas. On July 12, Granite City police executed a search warrant and reportedly confiscated almost a quarter of a pound of marijuana and a small quantity of diazepam, the generic name for Valium — from Pourdas' house on Madison Avenue. Pourdas was charged with unlawful possession of cannabis with the intent to deliver it and unlawful possession of a controlled substance.

Meanwhile, Carol said she intends to see what she can do to get some justice for Brandon.

"I'm not done. (Pourdas) may have won the battle, but not the war," she said.

Scott: Don't vote?
Don't complain

By Mike Viola
Staff writer

The East St. Louis chapter of the NAACP is intensifying efforts to get more local voters to the polls.

The Rev. Johnny Scott, local chapter director, said the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People's efforts are geared towards both voter registration and education. He said getting people signed up to vote can not be the only goal of the chapter, which also has to get people who are registered to actually go to the polls.

"During the last election I think we had only 15 percent of the people who could vote actually go and vote," Scott said. "What happened to the other 85 percent?"

In recent weeks, campaigns to get more African Americans registered to vote have been started by the Million Man March organization and The Rev. Jesse Jackson.

Scott said the NAACP started its voter registration drives after its national convention in July. The NAACP's national goal is to get over a million new voters registered and to increase its own membership by 500,000.

"Since July we have already had two (local) voter registration drives and we are working on getting several more held," Scott said.

Scott added that area NAACP officials have been working with city and county officials to develop a more efficient voter registration program for East St. Louis and neighboring communities.

New voters are expected to be able to sign-up at places such as banks, doctors offices and churches in addition to regular locations.

Scott said getting local residents registered to vote is only half the battle because it does no good if registered person does not vote. He said people shouldn't complain about their local, state or federal government if they didn't even take the time to cast their ballot.

"The NAACP is encouraging area community leaders to stress the importance to their members about the importance of taking the time to study upcoming election issues and candidates and then actually going to the polling place."

Anyone interested in helping out with the NAACP's effort to increase voter turnout can call 271-4688.

News in review

News in review provides a summary of some of the past week's stories. This column is designed for out-of-town readers who do not receive the Sunday and Wednesday Press-Record/Journals.

Car wash plan OK'd

Developers wasted little time beginning construction on a new million-dollar car wash in downtown Granite City last week.

A bulldozer began moving dirt on the vacant triangular lot on Niedringhaus Avenue between Grand and Madison avenue on Wednesday — less than 24 hours after the City Council adopted an amendment to the city's zoning ordinance paving the way for the new facility.

Mayor vetoes burning

Some Granite City residents were going to burn leaves, regardless of the legality of the action. As promised, Mayor Ron Selph vetoed a leaf burning ordinance Tuesday night.

But even before the City Council meeting had ended, someone had set fire to the leaves in the city's yard waste drop-off area.

Half ton of pot seized

Granite City police and agents from the Metropolitan Enforcement Group of Southwestern Illinois confiscated a half ton of marijuana from a horse trailer just outside the city Nov. 20.

Authorities executed a search warrant and seized 1,000 pounds of pot from a red horse trailer parked in the 2500 block of Ruth Drive, just north of the city limits and west of St. Thomas Road, at 1:30 p.m. Nov. 20, according to a police report.

Contract revision suggested

A contract between the city of Alton and a waste systems company planning to build a mixed waste materials recovery facility in Wood River will have to be revised before Madison County will sign off on the project, a county official says.

The 40-page contract between Alton and Norton Environmental fails to guarantee that the city will meet a state requirement to recycle at least 25 percent of the waste stream by July 1, 1996, according to Joe Parente, administrator of the county's Building, Zoning and Environmental department.

Unemployment rate down

For the first time in years, the jobless rate in Granite City has fallen below that in other major Metro East cities. Unemployment in Granite City was at 6.9 percent in October, according to figures released by the Illinois Department of Employment Security last week.

That compares favorably to unemployment for Alton (7.9 percent), Belleville (7.6 percent) and East St. Louis (10.1 percent) — the other three Metro East cities reported by IDES. According to the latest report, 15,952 Granite City residents were employed in October.

Contamination woes continue

An environmental consultant says Granite City is about 30 percent through with its cleanup of gasoline contamination at the main fire station on Madison Avenue.

The city removed four underground gasoline tanks from the site and has already spent more than $500,000 on the cleanup, but contamination does not appear to be going away.

Bob Loudon of Value Environmental, based in Alton, recommended last week that a full assessment of all contamination be performed. He said that a full assessment — at a cost of about $100,000 — would define the extent of contamination on- and off-site, determine the source of contamination and consider alternative cleanup methods.

GRANITE CITY PRESS-RECORD

GCHS skaters stay perfect with win over Pattonville

By Rob Raphael
Staff writer

Things got a little sticky for the Granite City hockey team this week, but the Warriors cleaned the gum off their skates and remained undefeated with wins over Lindbergh and Pattonville.

On Saturday at the South County rink, Lindbergh decided to get physical with the Warriors, and ended up taking a multitude of penalties, even after taking a 3-1 lead over Granite City in the first period.

BUT EVENTUALLY, the Warriors (5-0) got enough power-play opportunities to get back into the game.

"We started off that game making a lot of mental mistakes," said Granite City coach Dave Yurkovich. "We just weren't in the game in the first period. We made a big mistake on their third goal, by not making a good, quick pass. Their guy just stepped in, intercepted it and had a breakaway."

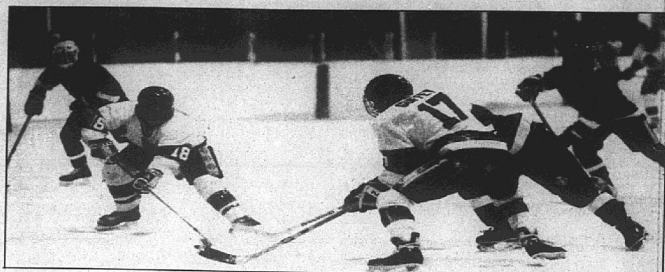

Aaron Reeves started off the scoring when he notched his third goal at the 1:32 mark. But three straight goals by Lindbergh had the hosts feeling a little overconfident.

"At that point, it became a very physical game," Yurkovich said. "They are a big team, and it got physical both ways. But they got out of hand, and started taking penalties."

BY THE END of a busy first period, Kevin Nenninger and Reeves had connected on power-play goals to bring the Warriors back to 4-3.

"We finally got things together in the second period," Yurkovich said. "Of course, they helped us out by taking

Lady Warriors race past Madison 60-30

By Rob Raphael
Staff writer

Denise McMillan scored 30 points and grabbed 10 rebounds, leading Granite City to a 60-30 win over Madison on Monday in a nonconference game played at Madison Middle School.

It was a lopsided affair from the beginning, as the Lady Warriors sped out to a 7-0 lead and led 11-4 after the first period.

SEVERAL GCHS players continued to step up their level of play, while the Lady Trojans are just trying to resurrect their program.

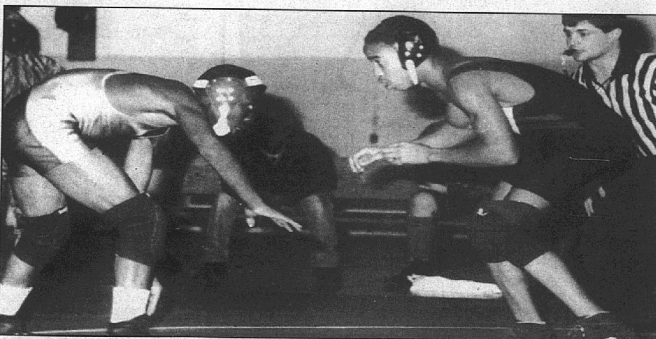

"I thought Madison showed a lot of character," said GCHS coach Chuck Kraus. "They are to be commended. There's no doubt in my mind that Don (Smith) will build that program up in the future. He's gotten rid of the troublemakers, and you have to commend a guy like that who's willing to start from scratch."

Smith, the first-year Madison coach, said that his team did have a reputation for some questionable play, but he only wanted girls that sincerely wanted to play basketball on his team.

"We are starting basically from scratch, and we're still trying to learn the game of basketball," Smith said. "We've had to go back to the basics, teaching discipline and sportsmanship to these girls. There have been some bad apples in the past, but we've gotten rid of them and we have a good group of girls who have the right kind of attitude and want to work hard."

GRANITE CITY improved to 2-1 with the win, while Madison fell to 0-3.

After being held in check by Althoff, McMillan once again let loose. The senior guard is now averaging more than 22 points per game. "She's some kind of player," Smith said. "She can really

Warriors weighing out state tourney hopes

By Rob Raphael
Staff writer

For Bobby Chaulsett, it's his final chance to get to the promised land. For Mike Glover, it's his best chance yet to make it to the threshold.

Both wrestlers fully expect to be traveling to Champaign for the individual state tournament in February, and both also believe the Warriors will be going as a team to Normal for the dual team state tournament.

"We've got six returning state qualifiers, so the attitude's there," said Chaulsett, a senior who wrestles at 119 pounds. "I think our expectations are high, but they should be."

"EVERYBODY'S OUT to win this year," said Glover, a junior who moved up to 125 pounds for the 1995-96 season. "I have my own personal goal. I want to qualify for state this year. But like everyone else, I want to wrestle Mt. Carmel for the state championship — and beat them."

Chicago Mt. Carmel was the center of controversy at the end of last season and because of that the IHSA canceled the dual state tournament. (See WARRIORS, Page 3B)

Midgets top Devils 77-58

Once again, Freeburg spoiled the Devils' party. Freeburg, which defeated Venice twice last year, including in regional play, did it again Tuesday by beating host Venice 77-58 in the season opener for both teams.

AFTER VENICE had a slim three-point lead after the first quarter, Freeburg outscored the Devils 18-6 in the second quarter to take a 37-28 half-time lead. The Midgets increased their advantage by outscoring the Devils 28-14 in the third quarter.

Kevin Roberts led the Devils with 27 points, and Keith Kennedy added 10 points. Freeburg was led by Mark Jans. (See DEVILS, Page 3B)

Harris caps off year with third-place finish

By Rob Raphael
Staff writer

Since he doesn't race ATVs for the money, Gaylon Harris must do it for the glory. If so, he's once again been rewarded.

Harris, 34, a native and resident of Granite City, competes in the 250-open two-stroke division. He has competed mostly in Missouri and Illinois this year, but he recently traveled to Crawfordville, Ind., for the Grand Nationals, and finished first in his class.

HE ALSO FINISHED out this year's Missouri series by placing third in the Flat River Grand Prix.

He said the Nationals win was the highlight of the year for him.

"I was racing in the open-B class, and the race lasted over two hours even though it was only a one-lap race," Harris said. "It was an eight-mile course, and it was a tough race. Plus, it was a long way to travel. But it was worth it. The second-place guy finished over five minutes behind me, so it was a good race."

Harris placed fourth in the other nationals event he entered this year, but with 46 degree temperatures and rainy, muddy conditions, the Indians win was that much. (See HARRIS, Page 4B)

Warriors

ment. The Warriors placed second to Mt. Carmel at the prestigious Geneseo Tournament, and had a realistic chance of challenging the Caravan for the title. Mt. Carmel has won the past three Class AA state titles.

"We'll see them at Geneseo again this year," Chaulsett said. "We're on a mission this year. I think we'll (figuratively) mutilate them when we wrestle them again."

If one believes the news publications that rate teams, on paper the Warriors appear to be a strong candidate. The team is rated 14th nationally by one magazine.

In the state, according to Illinois Best weekly polls, several Warriors appear on the top lists. Chris Janek (275) is rated No. 1 in the state, while John Sellers (189) is listed as fourth. John Venne (171), Joe Scott (152) and Jeff Estrada (145) are all rated fifth in the state.

Chaulsett and 103-pounder Adam Dunnant each received honorable mention. "We'll be disappointed if we don't win it all," Chaulsett said.

Chaulsett and O'Fallon's Nick Burrows wrestled in one of the bigger matches of the early season when they hooked up on Nov. 21. Chaulsett and Burrows have wrestled at least a dozen times in the last four years, since the two were eighth graders.

The two have always been evenly matched, and have traded victories over the years. But last week, Chaulsett proved he may be widening the gap, as he beat Burrows 10-3. Burrows actually led the match 3-2 after the first period before Chaulsett turned it on. He even scored a three-point near fall late in the second period.

"I didn't even know I was that good until I beat him by a point when we were eighth graders," Chaulsett said. "He beat me a couple of times, but I beat him by two points when we were freshmen. That was the match right before I broke my arm."

Chaulsett fractured his arm in two places during a match against a Carbondale wrestler, and was out the rest of the 1993-94 season. After that incident, he fought all the way back to the state tournament last season.

"At first, I wasn't sure what would happen, but after I wrestled that first time back, and realized it was OK, it never bothered me," Chaulsett said.

Glover, meanwhile, had the pleasure of pinning Burrows' brother, Chuck, in the 125-pound match against O'Fallon. Glover is currently 3-0 with two wins by fall.

After finishing fourth in the regional last year, he said he traveled with the rest of the team to Champaign for the individual state meet.

"I didn't like watching from the bench," Glover said. "This year I want to be able to go down on the mats."

Glover lost to O'Fallon's Scott Vitek last year in the regional, but Vitek has moved up to 135 pounds this year. Glover's main obstacle in the area may be Collinsville's Nick Delisle.

"I just have to wrestle harder and work harder," Glover said. "I'm not worried about where or if I'm ranked anywhere — or whether I get any ink or not."

"I'm going to do whatever it takes to make it to state and to help my team beat Mt. Carmel."

sen's 18 points, along with 16 by Nick Lange and 14 by Jason Glanzer.

It was a tough beginning for the Devils. Coach Clinton Harris had been stressing tight defense during preseason practices, but the Midgets struck for long runs in the second and third quarters.

The Devils actually played their best defensive quarter in the fourth, but it was too little, too late. Donald Harris added six points for Venice, as did center Charles Cotton.

The Devils will continue their homestand Friday night against Springfield Calvary. Junior varsity action should begin around 6:15 p.m., with the varsity tip-off scheduled for 8 p.m.

Skaters

five penalties in the second and six more in the third."

Chris Angle scored twice in the second period to give the Warriors the lead, and Bobby Pritchard tallied in the third to give Granite City a 6-4 win.

On Monday the Warriors broke open a tight contest with five goals in the second period en route to a 9-2 pasting of Pattonville at the Wilson Park rink.

After the bulk of the Warriors' scoring came from just a handful of players in the first three games, the wealth is beginning to spread around.

Angle scored twice, giving him four goals over the long weekend. Todd McQueen scored twice on Monday, and Brian Loftus scored his first two goals of the year. Loftus subbed Saturday for Mikal Guffey, who was out of town, and Yurkovich said Loftus did a nice job after getting thrown into a wild game. Guffey was back Monday, and scored his team-leading ninth goal of the year in the second period.

Pattonville led 1-0 late in the first before Angle scored with just four seconds left in the period. Guffey then started a five-goal barrage in the middle period.

"We were getting a lot of shots, but their goalie was just standing on his head," said Yurkovich. "Fortunately, we got a few more power-play chances in that game. We hadn't had a chance to practice that much at all yet, because we had been working on team play mostly. But it's starting to look real good."

After outshooting Lindbergh 42-25, Granite City outshot Pattonville 39-14.

"We averaged 40 shots in the two games over the weekend, so we got a lot of chances by a lot of different players," Yurkovich said. "We had some trouble getting our shots on net against Pattonville. They did a good job of clogging up the middle of the ice."

"Overall, we're happy with the effort and the teamwork. Granite City will take on Rockwood Summit this weekend, and that's a pretty tough team down the road, as well. Those two games should be the biggest tests yet for the Warriors."

THE LAW AND YOU

By RICK REED
Attorney At Law

Sometimes employees who are injured on the job are reluctant to file a Workers' Compensation claim. In many cases, the employee fears that the employer will terminate him if he files such a claim. An Illinois employee who is fired for exercising his rights under the Workers' Compensation Act can bring suit against the employer for retaliatory discharge.

In one recent case, a woman was hired on a temporary basis to wrap and box assorted candies at a confections company in Chicago. She had an accident on the job shortly after she was hired, and she filed a Workers' Compensation claim. Fifteen days after she filed the claim, the plaintiff was informed that she was fired.

The worker testified that she was terminated because she filed the claim. She indicated in her testimony that two of her supervisors had stated this to her. The company, on the other hand, claimed that she was only a temporary employee, and that she knew this from the time she was hired. One of the worker's supervisors testified that the plaintiff was "laid off" as a result of a seasonal decline in production. A jury awarded the plaintiff $65,000 in damages based on a finding that she was fired in retaliation for filing a Workers' Compensation claim.

The Appellate Court reversed the decision of the trial court because they felt there was not sufficient proof that the plaintiff's discharge was "causally related" to the filing of her claim. The Appellate Court felt that the record revealed that the plaintiff was "laid off" because of a seasonal decline in production of the company. They felt it was significant that the plaintiff was laid off in the ordinary course of events along with numerous other temporary employees. For all of these reasons, it was felt the evidence was insufficient to support the jury's verdict that the plaintiff was a victim of retaliatory discharge.

Despite the fact that the Appellate Court here decided in favor of the employer, cases like this are important because they recognize the right of the employee to bring an action for retaliatory discharge. An injured employee can feel free to file a Workers' Compensation claim knowing that Illinois law will protect him in this situation.

189-pounder Alti Taylor. "I felt weird not being able to wrestle. That's the first time I've ever done that," Sellers said. "I'm a senior, and I'm supposed to be a leader. I just hurt myself and my team, and mostly my team."

"I didn't like what Taylor did to Kelly (Huckelberry) in the O'Fallon meet. He was way ahead on points, and I guess he just had to throw him. We'll see them again in the Christmas tourney, hopefully," Sellers said.

Sellers said the Warriors are on a mission this season. "The wrestling season is a long, hard season," he said. "We did pretty well at the individual state meet (last year). After we got back and they canceled the dual state meet, I think we were all just glad it was over."

"But the more we thought about it and talked about it, the madder we got. We feel like we had a good chance of beating Mt. Carmel, and we didn't get a shot at it."

"I think Carmel, and a lot of these teams upstate, think that we're just a big joke. Now our goal is to be state champs. We'll see Carmel at the Genesis Tournament in January. I think we can beat them big."

Sellers said that he will shed his 10 pounds by Friday night, although sometimes cutting weight before a match can be a detriment.

"It can make you a little weaker. It's not like practice, where you can feel the weakness," Sellers said.

Sellers is currently ranked fourth in the state at his weight by a weekly publication. He said it's a nice honor, but anything short of a state title will be a disappointment.

"I think the people who were ranked will all finish higher than that," he said of his teammates. "And I definitely think I'm better than fourth. But I still have to prove it."

Tiffany Monroe goes up for a shot in Monday's game. The Lady Warriors will return home Saturday for a game against Edwardsville.

shoot the ball. Everything I had heard about her is true." "When she's on, she's on," Kraus said. "But the most important thing that happened was we had our other players step up and help with the scoring. Carrie Simpson had 12 points to break out of her slump, and Anna Tapp and Geeta Kumar each had six points."

"What we need to do more than anything is build confidence, and I think we did a lot of that (Monday)."

While the Lady Warriors are a relatively young team, they don't compare to the inexperience on the Lady Trojans. Smith has only one senior and three juniors on his entire varsity and junior varsity rosters.

And although the Lady Trojans are winless, they played a good game against Gateway last week, losing by just three points.

"And I started three freshmen in that game," Smith said. "We had an opportunity to win that game, but that's just the things you have to go through when you're trying to develop a program."

Although Smith is the head coach, he said that he and assistant Karen Missy both work with the girls a lot, and that each is an equal part in the coaching framework.

"Actually, our junior varsity team has played pretty well the first few games. We still need to bring those fundamentals up to the varsity level," he said.

"I thought they had a lineup with five pretty quick players," Kraus said. "I know everyone there is working hard to re-establish that program, and I wish them the best of luck."

Next up for Granite City is a home game against Edwardsville on Saturday, while Madison plays at Waterloo tonight.

Tickets for the 15th annual Coca-Cola/KMOX Shootout are now available on sale at locations throughout the St. Louis area.

The Shootout, scheduled for Thursday, Dec. 7, will return to the Kiel Center in St. Louis for the second year. It will feature seven games, with hopes running from noon until just short of midnight.

"We really have some intriguing matchups this year," event director Keith Pickett said. "And we'll likely showcase nine of the top 50 players in the country."

The pairings include: Carlyle vs. Cor Jesu Academy of St. Louis in the lone girls game, noon.

Webster Groves, Mo., vs. Houston (Texas) Strake Jesuit, 1:30 p.m.

Shelbyville vs. Tulsa (Okla.) Booker T. Washington, 3 p.m.

Centralia vs. Phoenix (Ariz.) Shadow Mountain, 4:30 p.m.

Springfield Lanphier vs. St. Louis Vashon, 6 p.m.

Cardinal Ritter vs. Baton Rouge (La.) Glen Oaks, 7:30 p.m.

Chicago Farragut vs. DeSmet, 9 p.m.

Tickets, priced at $16 and $13, cover the day's activities. Tickets went on sale Tuesday at the competing schools and various sites throughout the St. Louis area.

•Harris

sweater.

Harris finished seventh overall in the Missouri series, after winning the district championship last year. But Harris was put in a tough spot when the age classes switched from 30-and-over to 35-and-over. Next year, after racing against 18- and 19-year olds, he'll be back racing with the veterans.

Still, young or old, the ATV racers gain virtually nothing except glory by competing.

"For winning the national event, all I got was a plaque," Harris said. "I wish there was more money in it, although that's not why I race. There are several nationals all over the country, and I'd like to be able to go to more of them."

In order to keep competing, Harris needs lots of help. He gets it in the maintenance of his ATV through County Motorcycle in St. Louis. Bob's Cycle in Madison, Matt's Muffler in Granite City and his uncle, Al Mitchell.

"I don't know what I'd do without these guys," he said. "But I could still use more help."

Harris said he was talking with Weber Chevrolet about possible sponsorship, but has nothing finalized at this point. "The most important thing is not that I make any money; it's that I can be able to compete," he said. "I might ride some expert races next year. I'd like to give it a shot."

All Tickets Now locations, the Kiel Center Box Office and Curt Smith Sporting Goods in Belleville are also serving as ticket locales. For group sales, call (314) 622-5464.

Even though no immediate-area Southwestern Illinois schools are competing in this year's event, Pickett has five Illinois teams and five Missouri teams participating.

"We've fanned out a little farther this year for teams in Illinois because a lot of the closer teams are rebuilding or going through transition years," he said.

The Illinois contingent includes Centralia, Shelbyville, Springfield Lanphier, Chicago Farragut and the Carlyle girls.

Cardinal Ritter, Vashon, DeSmet, Webster Groves and Cor Jesu Academy comprise the St. Louis group.

"I'd say the Missouri side has the strongest set of teams we've had in years," Pickett said.

Harizal-Mohme

Laurie Ann Mohme and Phillip Andrew Harizal were married Sept. 9, 1995, at Mother of Perpetual Help Church in Maryville.

The bride is the daughter of Paul and Carol Mohme of Collinsville and the late Betty Mohme.

A 1984 graduate of Collinsville High School, she was employed with the Department of Children and Family Services in East St. Louis as an account technician.

The groom is the son of John and Dolores Harizal of Granite City.

A 1983 graduate of Granite City High School South and a 1988 graduate of the University of Missouri at Rolla with a degree in engineering management, he is a technical specialist with Betz Water Management Group in Peoria.

Sharon Henderson was the matron of honor and Gayle Leveling was the maid of honor.

The bridesmaids were Jane Mohme, Kay Waldman, Becca Mohme, Amy Mohme, Anne Harizal and Leslie Eversmann. The junior bridesmaids were Krystin Harizal and Tiffany Mohme.

Matt Harizal and Chris Harizal were the best men. The groomsmen were John Harizal, Joe Whaley, Mike Sikora, Sam Mendoza, David Mohme and Mark Zarr.

Phillip and Laurie Harizal

Danny Harizal was the ring bearer and the train bearers were Anthony Burchett, Justin Mohme, Paul Henderson, Drew Waldman and Zachary Mohme.

Guests were seated by Adam Kaiser and Michael Harizal. They will reside in Geneseo, Ill.

Cape-60 years

Al and Fran Cape of Coal City, Ind., formerly of Pontoon Beach, where they had been residents for 41 years, will celebrate their 60th wedding anniversary on Dec. 8.

The Capes retired from McDonnell Douglas.

They are the parents of Charles Cape of Gaithersburg, Md., and Mary Frances Hochstetler of Coal City.

Mr. and Mrs. Al Cape

Johnson-50 Years

Granite City residents Russell and Olga Johnson were uncertain what awaited them when their daughter, Lynn Johnson, and son-in-law, Fred Slocum from California, arrived at their house on the evening of Nov. 17.

The couple had expressed their desire to have a family gathering, including all their grandchildren, instead of a big party. Both of their children had told them how impossible this would be since most of their grandchildren were in school or starting new jobs. Thus, they were told to pack a suitcase for a mystery weekend to spend with their children and spouses.

As the couple approached the Ritz Carlton in St. Louis, they were greeted by their son, Larry Johnson, and his wife, Marilyn, from Michigan, disguised as "doormen." Their grandson, Marcus Johnson of Florida, escorted his grandparent through the door of the hotel. Grandson Dennis Johnson of Michigan, dressed as a bellman, took their luggage to their room. Russell proceeded to tip the bellman, he noticed a resemblance to his grandchild, but remained quiet until Olga turned and met Aaron's eyes with tears of joy.

Appearing at the door with a tray of hors d'oeuvres was Nancy Kinsella Johnson, Aaron's wife. Granddaughters Lauren and Rachael Slocum, Johnson from California, dressed as maids, knocked at the door carrying a fresh set of towels.

Delighted that some of their grandchildren could join them, everyone proceeded to a nearby restaurant, where grandson Isaac Johnson from North Carolina, and David Burch from Washington, D.C., awaited.

To complete the family gathering, Dr. and Mrs. Stephen Russell from Michigan arrived during dinner. It was a tearful moment as Russell and

Mr. and Mrs. Russell Johnson

Olga expressed their joy at being together with "all" their family for the first time.

The excitement continued the following day when everyone boarded a private limousine bus to visit various places where Russell and Olga shared their lives, including the church where they were married, their first apartment and the home in which the family grew up. Surprise visits were made to the homes of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Jackstadt and Mr. and Mrs. William Kozyak, cousins and good friends of the family.

Bill and Marilyn Kozyak treated everyone to Bobby's Frozen Custard, where many hugs and kisses were exchanged and numerous photos were taken.

Returning to the hotel, all were to meet in the lobby at 6 p.m., where a photographer awaited to take a family portrait.

Later that evening, the couple celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary at Giovanni's Restaurant. It was a quiet evening with all 15 family members in attendance. The weekend culminated in brunch at the Ritz Carlton the following morning.

Leleniewski-Bruncic

Teresa Jean Bruncic and Leonard Anthony Leleniewski were married May 20, 1995, at St. Mary's Catholic Church in Madison by the Rev. James Keefner. She was escorted down the aisle by her brother, Mark Bruncic, and her mother. He was escorted by his mother.

The bride is the daughter of Dolores Bruncic of Madison and the late Thomas Bruncic. A 1981 graduate of Madison Senior High School, she is attending Belleville Area College in Granite City and is employed with St. Elizabeth's Preschool and Day Care Center in Granite City.

The groom is the son of Sophie Leleniewski of Madison and the late Edward Leleniewski. A 1978 graduate of Madison Senior High School, he is employed with the John J. Steubly Co. in Maryland Heights, Mo., as a material handler.

Christina Scaturro of Granite City, cousin of the bride, was the maid of honor. The bridesmaids were Sheila Bruncic of Collinsville, sister-in-law of the bride; Sherry Arnold of Caseyville; Sharon Gagich of Glen Carbon, sister of the groom; Kathryn Scaturro of Granite City, cousin of the bride; Linda Leleniewski of Granite City, sister of the groom; and Patricia Terveer of Granite City, cousin of the bride. The junior bridesmaids were Maggie and Megan Dallas, both of Granite City, cousins of the bride.

Larry Arnold of Caseyville was the best man. The groomsmen were Ron Leleniewski of Edwardsville, brother of the groom; Walt Pelker Jr. of Scheller, Ill.; John Gagich of Glen Carbon, brother-in-law of the groom; Mark Woodson of Granite City; Jim Pelker of Scheller and Mark Terveer of Granite City, cousin of the bride. The junior groomsmen were Matthew Leleniewski of Collinsville, nephew of the groom, and Bryan Gagich of Glen Carbon, nephew of the groom.

The flower girl was Lauren Gagich of Glen Carbon, niece of the groom. The ring bearer was Benjamin Bruncic of Collinsville, nephew of the bride. The ushers were Bill Pearce of Granite City and Mike Bergman of Omaha, Neb., cousins of the bride.

The guest book attendant was Lynn Buegman of Omaha, cousin of the bride.

A reception was held at the Madison AMVETS Post 204 hall.

Following a honeymoon in Lake of the Ozarks, they reside with the bride's mother in Madison.

Jacobs-Abenroth

Stefanie Jacobs, daughter of Michael and Sandra Jacobs of Granite City, and Grant Abenroth, son of Ron and Norma Abenroth of Granite City, have announced their engagement. Jacobs, of Granite City, a junior studying to become a business teacher at the secondary level at McKendree College in Lebanon, is employed with Providence Occupational Health Services in Granite City as a secretary to the sales and marketing director.

Abenroth, a 1988 graduate of Southern Illinois University at Carbondale with degrees in aviation, flight and manage-

Young at Heart Seniors learn 'Lifeline'

The Young at Heart Senior Citizens of Holy Family Catholic Church held its monthly meeting Nov. 20 in the church community center.

The meeting was called to order by Cleo Siebert, president. Sister Jean Patrick led the group in prayer, followed by the Pledge of Allegiance. The minutes of the October meeting were read by the recording secretary, Cleo Schreffle, followed by the treasurer's report, given by Katherine Berosky.

The membership chairman, Connie McGee, reported 74 members in attendance. The trip chairman, Irma Manning, reported that the bus for the trip on the Peoria gambling boat Par-A-Dice and the tour of lights will leave the church parking lot at 7:45 a.m. Dec. 5.

A representative from St. Elizabeth Medical Center, Pat McGee, patient care coordinator of the Social Work Department, gave a 30-minute speech on the "Lifeline Personal Response System," which allows a person who lives alone to call for assistance in time of need, for example, when you fall or when you hear a noise outside your home. By pressing a small portable button that is worn as a necklace or on the wrist like a watch, the patient is connected to help.

Birthday celebrants in November were Rosemary Rudy, Mary Yevin, Irene Kadane and Jean Francis. Siebert asked for volunteers to take charge of the dessert sale table for the fish fry on Dec. 8.

Patrick, spiritual adviser, asked members if they would be willing to fill gift bags to be given to nursing home residents and shut-ins. Gift bags can be returned to the community center on Dec. 11 or 18, at the regular monthly meeting.

The Ladies Club filled Thanksgiving baskets for the needy on Nov. 21 at the church community center. They will be filling Christmas baskets for the needy on Dec. 19 at the center.

The Ladies Club is selling tickets for the annual Christmas party, to be held at 6:30 p.m. Dec. 6 at Sunset Hills Country Club in Edwardsville. The cost is $12.50 per person. All women of Holy Family Catholic Church, 18 years of age and older, are invited to

High school groups honored Optimist Club salutes local students for their efforts

By Scott Cousins
Staff writer

While they should be "justifiably proud" of their accomplishments so far, members of the Empathy and Alpha Peer Leaders at Granite City High School have not finished the race and have a long way to go.

That was the message Granite City Mayor Ron Selph, the keynote speaker at the Granite City Optimist Club Youth Appreciation Dinner Nov. 16, imparted to a group of GCHS student leaders.

The dinner honored members of the Empathy and Alpha Peer Leaders.

Empathy is a group of peer helpers who are trained in listening, problem solving and referral skills. Based on the idea that students seek out each other for help, these students are trained to provide help to others students with problems.

Adolescents Learning Positive Health Alternatives is a peer group of 35 juniors and seniors who teach positive health alternatives to freshmen in health classes. Members are selected by faculty members and then trained.

Nineteen Alpha Peer leaders and 15 Empathy members participated.

Also honored were faculty sponsors LaVerna Corbitt and Mike Johnson.

Johnson talked about the impact the two groups have had, and said that the Empathy group was founded on the idea that many times teen-agers who have problems tend to seek out other teen-agers.

"Knowing what kids did, we decided to get this going so students who were interested in helping others could get some training," he said.

He added that the program has been very effective.

"In many situations the Empathy group members have brought kids in crisis situations to the counselors at the high school," he said. "I firmly believe the Empathy group is a valuable resource at the high school."

Selph praised the students, and said the students' effort has paid off.

"All my career, I have been involved with young people," he said. "It is always very refreshing for me to be able to come to an event to recognize the positive things for young people in this community."

"All too often the recognition falls on the negative aspects of what people do. We all know that's the minority, but the majority is never heard from."

"I am proud of what each of you has accomplished in your young lives," he said. "The Optimist Club is proud of you, Granite City is proud of you, and you should be justifiably proud of yourself."

Selph also said now was not the time to stop their efforts.

"The game is not over yet, and you still have a long way to go," he continued. "If you're to really have a meaningful life, you are going to keep on being a success. You're going to have to keep on achieving from this time until the final gun sounds." He also told them it would not get any easier.

"You're going to have to provide motivation yourself," he said.

"I know that sometime late in the 21st Century when the time comes and that final gun sounds, you will be able to look back and see how far you've come," he added. "You will be able to look back with pride at all your achievements."

Alpha Peer Leaders honored at the dinner were: Catrina Benson, Stacey Brimm, Meredith Chomko, Amanda Crabtree, Mark Dittman, Melanie Gensert, Andrew Harris, Mark Hewlett, Marcie Holsinger, Matthew James, Rachel Kulasza, Rachel Mefford, Scott Mills, Jessica Nichols, Hillary Ryan, Amanda Schermer, Amelia Tapp, Jeff Wallis and Tara Wiebusch. Empathy group members participating were Christina Brimm, Stacey Brimm, Kip Campbell, Chris Craig, Tanya Darragh, Angel King, Shelly Leach, Alyson McDowell, James Myint, Jennifer Nickell, Ben Nofsinger, David Parrish, David Pritchett, Joe Skinner and Tim Skinner.

'It is always very refreshing for me to be able to come to an event to recognize the positive things for young people in this community.'

'Toy Story' kicks off winter film season

It looks like a mismatch. Robin Williams, Robert De Niro, Whitney Houston and Geena Davis are about to clash with Woody, Buzz, and Mr. Potato Head, playthings that aren't even one foot tall.

The holiday film season is loaded with big stars and Oscar-caliber releases, but it may be Disney's "Toy Story" and the new computer animation system behind it — that collects most of the attention.

The film about a child's toys come to life not only could be the season's breakout work but also could establish a new benchmark in animation history.

Unlike the elaborately drawn artwork in "Pocahontas" or the stop-motion photography of "A Nightmare Before Christmas," "Toy Story" is the first animated feature wholly born and raised inside a computer. Two dozen artists, many classically trained animators, created the film by manipulating digital models of toys, people and places.

The "Toy Story" animation, by the San Francisco-area Pixar Animation Studios, yields a life-like world where toys such as ball-string cowboy Woody (voiced by Tom Hanks) and intergalactic traveler Buzz Lightyear (Tim Allen) can walk, talk and emote as if they were real.

Although the toys inhabit a zone that is clearly whimsical, the film's makers have spent two years in front of computer screens trying to make the movie as "real" as possible.

The film's humans and a dog named Scud don't look especially lifelike, but Pixar's animation software captures the appearance and sheen of plastic particularly well, and textures and shading of everything from bookshelves to doors are true.

"It's clearly an animated film, but it's so dimensional," says the film's director, John Lasseter. "What we concentrated on was creating a believable world."

The winter's animated features several other films trying to make the unbelievable real. They include Williams in "Jumanji," about a fantastic board game, the stunt-filled James Bond film "Goldeneye" and the Geena Davis pirate movie "Cutthroat Island."

Many studios release their most prestigious titles in late November and December to capture the most Academy Award momentum entering 1996. The last-minute releases introduce "Nixon," starring Anthony Hopkins. DeNiro's "Casino," Houston in "Waiting to Exhale," Harrison Ford in a remake of "Sabrina," and movie adaptations of "Richard III," "Othello" and "Sense and Sensibility."

Many studios release their most prestigious titles in late November and December to capture the most Academy Award momentum entering 1996. When all the tickets are counted, however, it will probably be "Toy Story" resting atop the box-office chest.

When all the tickets are counted, however, it will probably be "Toy Story" resting atop the box-office chest.

The premise of the film is simple: When Andy leaves his bedroom, his toys get busy. It's no playground, though. The toys might as well be working in an office — amusing children happens to be their daily 9-5 job.

As with any profession, there are the usual characters. The piggy bank Hamm is nosy, the dinosaur Rex is paranoid, and Mr. Potato Head is short-tempered. The support personnel include classic toys Simon the Cat, Mr. Slinky Dog, Plastic Army men and Barrel of Monkeys.

Woody runs the bedroom as his boardroom until Buzz Lightyear arrives as one of Andy's birthday presents. Sporting fold-out "wings" and a red "laser," Buzz is convinced he is actually a visitor from another galaxy, and a jealous Woody eventually lures Buzz out the window. Woody ventures beyond the bedroom's safety to rescue Buzz, propelling Woody and Buzz into an adventure that includes a demonic neighborhood kid named Sid.

The screenplay, credited to eight writers, evolved over a two-year period. Animation took another two years. Among the critical story decisions was to focus on the toys, not their owner, and to make Buzz and Woody's road trip a new variation on the old buddy movie formula.

"Disney and Pixar spent a lot of time worrying about the story," says Bonnie Arnold, the film's producer and a newcomer to animation. "The technology captures people's interest for about five minutes, not the technology."

Disney and Pixar enjoyed cooperation from several toy makers, but there were at least two holdouts. Mattel resisted putting its Barbie into the film, and Hasbro refused to let Sid be a G.I. Joe doll with a firecracker. (The new victim is cunningly named Combat Carl.)

The filmmakers hope that most viewers won't notice the movie's technical tricks if they have succeeded at all, the wizardry should be invisible.

There's a level of emotional believability in traditional animation," says Thomas Schumacher, Disney's senior vice president of feature animation. "This film also relies on emotion and storytelling. But we want you to believe you're looking at a real Etch-a-Sketch."

Disney has plans to make at least two more animated movies using the Pixar studios, but the new technology will not displace the more familiar two-dimensional drawings used in "The Lion King" and "Beauty and the Beast."

"I think it's a new art form in a way," says Pete Docter, one of the film's writers and its supervising animator. "But it won't be replacing anything else."

Horoscope

Thursday, Nov. 30
Mars, the planetary prince of dynamic energy, enters Capricorn, the sign of prestige, self-discipline and measured worldly gain. Solid strategies implemented now bring continuing gains over time. The moon and Neptune harmonize in the morning, and creativity soars. A dazzling flash of afternoon brilliance advances a morning brainstorm. Make bold career moves. Your power's focused in your sector of status through the year's end. Financial and material gains last. Control your arrogance. Alienating VIPs or colleagues has disastrous results.

ARIES (March 21-April 19). Your ambition soars. Your power's focused in your sector of status through the year's end. Financial and material gains last. Control your arrogance. Alienating VIPs or colleagues has disastrous results.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20). Your mind expands. Feeding your brain catapults you into a more rewarding lifestyle — including a more balanced social group. Travel, Romance, recreation and investment possibilities are superb in a distant town.

GEMINI (May 21-June 21). Your sex appeal blasts off to a new level. Romance is transcendent, fiery and packed with thrills. Your ego's ablaze — avoid a confrontation. A conflict can erupt into a major clash. Keep a wide hand on your purse strings.

CANCER (June 22-July 22). Creative play ignites passion — and disputes. Clear the air. Repressing your feelings harms intimacy. A divisive issue is resolved when both parties agree to fight fairly. Relax with pals tonight.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22). You're a fireball at work. Shift into high gear. Foster rapport — feeding discord seriously impedes the progress of a project or assignment. Let job mates vent their feelings. Trying to smother gripes only fuels frustration.

TODAY'S BIRTHDAY (Nov. 30). Create your base of wealth in '96. Investments are lucky. You're magnetic and confident in January. Your mate and acquaintances help you enhance your prestige. Passion blazes until April. In May, job seekers are lucky. Profits are linked to home in March and April. Your lucky numbers are 9 and 15.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22). You show the world who you really are. The world's impressed. Watch out — seeking instant gratification can sabotage long-term financial or romantic goals. Pace your gains for a lasting payoff. Kids are irritable when they're idle.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23). The home front is lively through the year's end. Make arrangements for December guests. To avoid a tiff with your mate, be sure you both agree on accommodations for visiting relations and friends.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 21). You're mentally sharp and eager for a debate. Explore fresh ideas. You'll automatically seize on workable concepts and plans. Caution: Your defiant stance alienates VIPs. Chill out.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21). Your open-handed generosity makes your digs the headquarters for play, business and creative pursuits. Ownership issues intrude on love's bliss. Give love breathing room.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19). You're a powerhouse. Show the world what you can do. Be sensitive to associates' desires — you're moving fast and may tread on toes without realizing it. Jetison anything that's been obstructing your growth.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18). Your humanitarian urges grow stronger this month. Setting your ego aside saves you from asserting yourself in ineffective or inappropriate ways. Resolving emotional issues liberates your heart.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20). Target new goals. You're practical, determined and willing to work hard to realize your dreams. Teamwork is productive. Watch your ego — your dynamic drive could overpower the group and slow progress.

'Here's Love' on Summerstage

It's that time of year once again to trim a tree, hang mistletoe and holly, gather with friends and loved ones and sing Christmas carols. And it's time once again to join with Summerstage as the group presents another family production.

"This year, Summerstage will perform the musical version of the holiday classic, "Here's Love," titled "Here's Love." This joyous musical production, "Here's Love," makes the world go round — especially at Christmas time.

With a tuneful score by Meredith Wilson that brings tinsel, love and Christmas cheer wafting across the stage, "Here's Love" is the perfect family musical for all seasons.

The production stars local Granite City citizens, including the Rev. William Davis as Kris Kringle, Kiki Supp as Doris, Marty Eckhard as Fred Gally and Alexandra Batistoni as Susan, the only one who really believes that Kringle is Santa Claus.

"Here's Love" runs Nov. 30 through Dec. 3. Curtain time is 7:30 p.m. Ticket prices are $6 for adults and $4 for children when accompanied by an adult. Ticket reservations can be made by calling the Summerstage box office at 451-1032. The theater is located at 2906 Pershing Ave. in Granite City.

The production is directed by Beverly B. Agnini with Rogers Mefford as musical director and Margaret Holland-Pennell as the choreographer. This production is called "A happy, happy show for everybody. A shiny package of a musical production, "Here's Love," is a Santa Claus.

Bank conducting 12 month 'charitable CD' promotion

The First Bank of Granite City has announced that it is once again conducting the "First Charitable CD" promotion. It began Tuesday, Nov. 21, and runs through the end of the business day Saturday, Jan. 13.

The "First Charitable CD" is a 12-month certificate of deposit which features a charitable contribution made by the bank to many local community charitable organizations throughout the entire First Bank network. For every $2,000 in deposits invested in the special CD, First Bank will contribute $1.

In the local area, contributions will be made to the Tri-Cities Area United Way.

Currently, the rate paid on the first charitable CD is 5.80 percent with an annual percentage yield of 5.92 percent. Rates are effective Nov. 21, 1995.

IN ADDITION TO THE FUNDS raised to support the local Tri-Cities Area United Way, the First Bank branch will also be accepting donations of food, clothing and new toys to be delivered to Catholic Charities to help the needy during the upcoming holiday season.

"We are quite pleased to once again participate in this promotion in each of our local communities," said James F. Dierberg, chairman of the board, president and chief executive officer of First Bank Inc.

"We first introduced this effort last year and donated over $46,000 in charitable contributions throughout the 100 communities of the First Bank network. As a community bank, we have always strived to serve the needs of the local communities and this effort emphasizes our willingness to lend support and goodwill to our local organizations which help those who need it most."
